

Mixed-use Walgreens is built in Seattle

By Lonnie, on May 10th, 2007

From this, December 6, 2005...

...to this, March 29, 2007:

Pictures care of Capitol Hill Housing

I'm handing this posting over to Mike Stanton of the Preservation Association of Central New York. He sent me the following. Note the dates of construction. This was all going on while we were being told that Walgreens would not entertain building anything other than the standard suburban model we were fighting. We're thrilled to see Walgreens has learned how to build for an urban environment.

Mike writes:

